Disclosure policy

Health Improvement Institute will circulate the entry to award judges for evaluation. If judges rate the entry excellent, it will receive an Award of Excellence, and, if the best and most worthy, the Annual Award in the category. The Institute will publicize Awards. Such publicity may include release of the entrant's name, affiliation, etc, information in the entry in whole or in part. The Institute may use any or all of the information in the entry, whether or not the applicant received an Award of Excellence, for program purposes, including, but not necessarily limited to, publicity, marketing, workshops, and publications. The Institute does not release the name of entrants who did not receive an Award of Excellence or Certificate of Merit, unless the applicant agrees or such release is required by law.

Awards

Volunteer judges evaluate answers to Award questions submitted in the application for an Award against established criteria. Health Improvement Institute recognizes applications judged to be meritorious with a Certificate of Merit. Applications judged to be excellent receive an Award of Excellence; recipients receive a certificate and logo, and may purchase a plaque. The most worthy entry, if any, wins the Annual Award for the category; the winner receives a certificate, logo, and plaque proclaiming the Award. Winners of the Award of Excellence and the Annual Award may use the Award logo on their website, in print, and other media. The Institute's decision about giving an Award and the level of the Award given is final.
